The absence of leadership allows for a drag on the learning community by a segment of the teacher population...where GREAT teachers get frustrated as they look around and process the fact that there are a number of teachers who are not meeting expectations and there's NO consequence. Work Leveling is a NEW TERM for active supervision as a means to equalizing work/effort levels. Our premise is that those who exceed expectations, get feedback and are celebrated. Those who do not, get pressure (more of the leader's attention). Work Leveling, a mandatory responsibility for all school Principals, will increase the instructional and human capacity in schools...which will ultimately positively impact student outcomes.

Presenter: Matt Pope