

Kelsey R. Ortiz

Resource Project Coordinator | KUCRL | Lawrence, KS |

Kelsey is a Research Project Coordinator for the University of Kansas Center for Research on Learning. She has spent her career working with individuals with special needs across their lifespan. Her most recent work with the Center for Online Learning and Student with Disabilities includes state policy and guidance to support the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, understanding parent perspectives of children with disabilities, and equity in online learning environments. She is also a graduate student in the School of Public Affairs and Administration at the University of Kansas.