The Speaking with Power series will be discussed. This series is designed to teach students in grades 6 through 11 oral communication strategies to help them meet standards in English/Language Arts. The programs provide instruction for clearly and concisely presenting content in narrative, informative, and persuasive speeches. The self-paced instruction in communication strategies can be used to enhance expressive language, to provide additional practice to ensure that students achieve mastery in oral communication skills at a developmentally appropriate time, or as a remediation tool. The programs feature youth actors and include interactive instructional lessons with vignettes of examples and non-examples of skills and strategies, interactive flash cards, mnemonic devices, quick quizzes, interactive modules and games, color graphics, animation, video segments, audio effects and descriptive text—fun and informative!

Presenter: Sue Vernon